Chart Generation Animation

Overview

Yellowfin has the functionality to animate, or draw charts as they are generated. This is not to be confused with Chart Animation which allows you to animate charts based on time periods.

There are several configuration options available around this type of animation, which allow you to enable or disable it.

System Wide Settings

In order to configure Chart Generation Animation for the entire system, you will need to have Administrator access to Administration > Admin Console > Content Settings > Charts > Animated Loading.

User Based Settings

In order to configure Chart Generation Animation on a per user basis (different from the system settings) you will need to access your Settings in Timeline.

> See Profile Settings for more information.
